WASHINGTON, June 27.—Congressman Keifer, of 'Ohio, is here putting in some work for his election as Speaker of the next House. It is settled that Keifer will be Ohio's candidate, and he will have all the backing and influence of that State. It is claimed for him that he will also have the support of the Administration, but it can be stated that the Administration will not take any part for or against any candidate for any part for or against any candidate for Speaker in the organization of the House. While the President might feel gratified at the election of Keifer, a former colleague and present friend, he has other friends who are candidates for Speaker, and he will not even intimate a preference for any mau. THE NEW MEMBERS OF THE NEXT HOUSE are coming to Washington now, for the purpose of getting acquainted with all the de-partments and looking around before enter-ing upon their duties when Congress meets. The candidates for Speaker get in their work by meeting these new members and intro-ducing them in the various branches of the organization by a combination of Democrats and Greenbackers, though there are some prominent Democrats who still hold to the

Should the Republicans be defeated in Frye's and Morton's districts, it would render the organization of the next House donbtful; but advices received here from Maine are that the election of Dingley, Republican, to succeed Frye, is assured, as the Democrats and Greenbackers are not fusing harmoniously against him. The Republicans admit that the election of a Democrat in New York to succeed Morton is probable, and it seems to be generally conceeded that a Democrat can be elected to said property. probable, and it seems to be generally conceeded that a Democrat can be elected to succeed Fernando Wood, unless they get into a squabble in the district. There is the best of authority for the statement that Paul and Fulkerson, Readjuster members from Virginia, will vote with the Republicans on the organization of the House, as Mahone did in the Senate. These two votes gives the Republicans unexpected strength, and assures
